Our Sectors

Financial Institutions

Ava provides secure international logistics support for the transport of cash and precious metals across the globe. With a global network of trusted service providers, Ava also offers secure storage and inventory management of precious metals and the secure storage and processing of cash.

Governments & Central Banks

Ava provides you with secure international logistics support for large-scale foreign currency and precious metal movements on a global basis. Ava also offers secure storage and inventory management of precious metals and the secure storage and processing of cash.

Mining

When it comes to precious metals mining, Ava offers bespoke and secure international logistics support in transporting pre-refined precious metals around the world from mines to refineries. This work is complex and often requires detailed risk management, as mine sites are generally found in remote, inaccessible locations, far removed from communication networks and communities.

Refineries

Ava provides bespoke and secure international logistics support for the transport of refined and pre-refined precious metals around the world.

Bullion Traders

Ava provides secure international logistics support for the transport of precious metals. This includes secure transportation from refineries or from a secure storage location to central banks, investment banks or jewellery manufacturers.

Consulting

With a dedicated risk manager and risk management team, Ava can provide pre-feasibility and feasibility studies to support your supply chain management. Benefit from our experience and from the market intelligence of the service providers who form our global strategic partner network.

Our Global Reach

Ava has international capabilities and global reach, operating across six continents. Please see our website for further information and details of our regional offices.
